

Do not lift the ban. It is already difficult to relax or sleep on flights, especially long flights. People talking on the phone will only increase discomfort and potential confrontations. People almost always talk more loudly on cell phones, and this would definitely be the case on airplanes. If cell phone use is allowed on flights, I will be less inclined to want to fly.